Tuition Assistance Program (TAP) Application

The College of Education TAP provides tuition assistance to full and part time graduate students. To receive TAP funding, students who plan to enroll in classes during summer, fall and/or spring should complete and submit the TAP application by the March 15 due date. Awards are deposited directly into student tuition accounts as soon as applications are processed and funding needs are compared with funds available. The funding formula typically applied is one-third tuition assistance for up to six credit hours enrolled; however, this formula may be altered according to the number of applicants and the availability of funds. Students who decide to attend graduate school after the March 15 deadline may apply for TAP late consideration. Late consideration awards will be based on fund availability. Students receiving other College of Education tuition support cannot also receive TAP funding. TAP funds are for tuition credit only and go towards classes fulfilling a degree. Graduates of TCU seeking certification may apply for TAP and will be considered after degree-seeking students are funded.
